30,000 GRAINS

Antitoxin Sent to Storrs, Where Schoolboy Has Diphtheria.

Because of the death of Myron Warren as a result of diphtheria at Storrs Tuesday noon, the residents have been somewhat excited. The Warren boy was being treated at the Storrs school last Friday and therefore, to take all necessary precautions, Health Officer Cranston ordered the school closed temporarily.

A number of the local physicians have been called by citizens of the town of Mansfield, who live in the vicinity of the Storrs school, as the anxious parents desired to have preventives administered in good season. A quantity of antitoxin, some 30,000 grains has been given to children and others who were exposed to it. It is believed that no new cases will develop.

PUTNAM

George V. Ballard's House With Contents Burned—Mrs. Marion R. Knight Dead—Alonso Webster Killed on Track Near Elliott's.

The home of George Vernon Ballard, a short distance over the Putnam line from the southern part of the town of Putnam, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning. The fire was discovered by Joseph Gravel, a hired man who was on the second floor. He was awakened by smoke and saw the fire bursting through from above. He ran downstairs and gave the alarm, finding the whole of the first floor in flames. It was with great difficulty that Mrs. Ballard and a granddaughter, Pearl Noyes, were gotten out of the house. Mrs. Ballard was forced to leave the house in her night clothing, with a portiere wrapped about her. The whole of the first floor, small pictures and a little bed clothing were all the furniture saved, everything else being destroyed. The barn was saved through the efforts of the neighbors, the wind being favorable. The loss is estimated at $1,000. There is insurance of about $1,500 on the property burned.

Mr. Ballard is a prominent man of Putnam, and has been a grand juror for several years. His family consists of his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Noyes, who is at present teaching in Manchagua, Mass., and a granddaughter, Pearl Noyes. Mrs. Noyes was not home at the time of the fire. The department of the fire, which consists of the oldest hand but in the state, the Vernon Stiles, named after the man who was proprietor of the old tavern in Putnam, 1825, did not turn out and it is doubtful whether it would have been of any use. The fire was caused by a defective chimney.

JEWETT CITY

Arrives the Subject of Missionary Meeting—Birthdays of Miss Johnson Celebrated—Daniel Sheehan in Seaside Home.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society held its meeting at the home of Mrs. H. N. Wheelock Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. G. W. Robinson, presided at the meeting. The subject of the meeting was Africa. Mrs. G. H. Jennings told of the people of Africa from Livingston's standpoint and also of her own experience of life and customs. Mrs. G. W. Robinson spoke of what the gospel has done in the Zulu district, especially with regard to polygamy. Mrs. E. M. Swift read about Mohammedanism among the people in South Africa, saying that Christians have made more progress than ever. Mrs. Samuel Geer said that paganism is decreasing and that the people have become Christianized. Mrs. Frank Robinson told of the difficult and arduous work of the missionaries in Africa. Mrs. W. H. Burns gave extracts from Miss Gilson's experience among the natives who have labored in this country.

Miss Edna Burnstead gave extracts from G. Burton Holmes' experience among the people of Nile, and also told of the innumerable number of blind people in Egypt, and of the great progress of the people in several of the countries of Africa. Mrs. G. W. Robinson told the story of Lucy Shepherd, a missionary to Thompson, Tuesday, February 28. Mrs. E. M. Swift and Mrs. W. E. Burleson are the programme committee for the next meeting. Miss Johnson celebrated her birthday. A family party gathered at the home of Mrs. Nettie Johnson Tuesday evening to give her daughter, Miss Marjorie Johnson, a birthday surprise. Miss Johnson is employed at the local telephone exchange, and on return from her duties at six o'clock found the friends awaiting her arrival. At a table laid with pink runners and napkins and set with dainty refreshments. Overhead were pink and white streamers of crepe paper. A birthday cake with pink candles was the prominent feature of the feast. Miss Johnson received birthday remembrances from all the party, which included, besides her family, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Raymond Smith of New London, Mrs. E. J. Miner, Mrs. O. S. Maples and Miss Bertha C. Miner of Bozrah, W. B. Carey of Danbury, Mrs. W. E. Burleson of Danbury, and Miss Alice A. Brown of Jewett City.

Older residents learn with regret of the death on Tuesday of Mrs. Mary Wheeler Rathbun of Norwich. She was well known here, her first husband being Capt. Ansel Williams. She was the widow of Dr. S. C. Knight of New York city and New Haven.

Three years ago Mrs. Knight traded a cotton plantation near Helena, Ark., where she was living, for a small place, so-called, near West Woodstock, which was then owned by ex-Senator Fayette B.
